Fire victims respond to today's Cal Fire report holding PG&E responsible for a series of fires last year in Northern California

Statement by Patrick McCallum, co-chair of "Up from the Ashes," a coalition of fire victims:

"PG&E has been trying to duck responsibility for the fires, blaming everything from climate change to local fire departments and the state's liability laws.

"Cal Fire's report puts the blame where it belongs — squarely on PG&E, confirming it was responsible for many of the fires that devastated so many lives.

"As victims, we see the report as an important step toward rebuilding and recovery."
